A Primer about our Ocean Village Beach System

What does our location on the Atlantic Ocean mean for the viability of our beachfront?

We are on the open sea. Unlike protected Long Island Sound, for example, we are influenced by the Gulfstream and storms that start in the Caribbean. We absorb the trends, waves, winds, and currents of a big body of water. Those influences mean that we sometimes get sand erosion, and at other times we get sand accretion.

Do the dimensions of the beach change at different times of the year?

Yes. Depending on the seasonal flow, whether it is northerly or southerly, we can get accretion or erosion.

Why does our barrier island get so much sand erosion?

In the 1920s, Fort Pierce dug out the area now known as the Fort Pierce Jetty. In doing so, it interrupted the north-south flow of sand. That's why Pepper Park is so great for surfing, as the area gets lots of sand deposits. But the area below the jetty is depleted of sand on a frequent basis. Federal and state funding in past years has paid for sand replenishment south of the jetty, but funding this year is tenuous.

How is our location on a barrier island on the Atlantic Ocean special?

We are a nesting site for endangered sea turtles. That's why you see people filling in holes that people dig on the beach. We also have legal limitations on light pollution directed at the beach, as we want to offer sea turtles the optimal nesting conditions.

How does the dune figure into the success of our Ocean Village community?

Our mature dune system is not a product of coincidence. It is a carefully planned and curated ecosystem of Florida-friendly, drought-resistant, native, and rare plants. We also must monitor the entire half mile dune for invasives, as they can suffocate the plants we have installed over the years.

How else is the dune important?

The dune protects the Village from the onslaught of the fierce ocean. So many communities up and down the Atlantic coast have succumbed to devastating storms. We are lucky to have this dune system in place, but we must never take it for granted. We must constantly step up to act and protect it. You can join in and be part of the solution.

How do owners at Ocean Village help maintain the beach?

One of the ways is through our active Blue Tube program. At each crossover we have a container that volunteers fill with plastic bags from grocery stores. Each time people walk on the beach, they grab one of these plastic bags. It becomes a receptacle for litter that is thrown up on the beach due to tides and storms. We often find deep Turtles nest after the storm.

Litter picked up from Ocean Village beach.

Ocean Village Book Group

The Ocean Village Book Group meets at 1 PM on the first Monday of every month from November through April in the Cayman Center. All Ocean Village owners and their guests are welcome to attend. The Book Group participates in the Saint Lucie County Library’s “Books in a Bag” program. The library supplies the books, together with a study guide, to help readers participate in the monthly discussion. At the end of each season, the library circulates a list of books that will be available for the next season. The members of the group then choose the books they want to read from that list. For the past several years, the book group has been run by DiAnn Yonker, but she has sold her unit and is preparing to move from Ocean Village. Her efforts on behalf of the group are greatly appreciated, and she will be sorely missed. Going forward, Carolyn Fortuna, Arnold Fox, and Steve Hanley will share the task of picking up and returning the books each month. They will also ask for volunteers to lead the monthly discussion. The books will be distributed by the Recreation Office and collected at the end of each discussion.

Getting together with friends and neighbors to discuss the latest book is a great way to expand your horizons. If you have not participated in the Ocean Village Book Group before, please join us in November for the first meeting of the new season -- or any of the following months. As a reminder, save the first Monday of the month at 1 PM for the OV Book Group. Participation is free, and it is a great way to meet people in Ocean Village and forge new relationships. We look forward to you joining us in November.

sea debris with barnacles or non-English writing on them.

- What else can owners do to help the beach and dune system at Ocean Village?
- Volunteer to help the committee on its various projects.
 - Join one of our weeding groups, which help us to keep landscaping costs lower.
 - Participate in our beach cleanups.
 - Attend the guest lecture series.
 - Help market and publicize information we have assembled over the years with your technical savvy.
 - Share what you know about our very special dune system with others.

Have you published anything about the dune system for owners to read?

Yes. A working group wrote an academic paper about our dune system. If you want a copy, email c4tuna31@gmail.com and you’ll get a digital copy sent to you.

How can we learn more about life on the dune?

Owner Lee Hearn has identified the majority of plants and creatures on our dune and created a dune catalog. It’s a wonderful compilation. Right now it’s only available as a series of Word files. If you know how to use Instagram or create an app, get in touch, please. We can use your help to compile the information in an easily accessible platform for our owners.

Are there everyday activities that I should embrace in order to protect our ocean and dune systems?

Yes, there are.

- Stop using single use plastics. Marine creatures are attracted to them, as they smell like food. Statistics show the majority of mortality findings for marine animals are due to plastics wrapping around intestinal features.

- Bring reusable tableware to your picnic. So many of the plastics that are strewn along our beach are from disposable forks, knives, etc.
 - When you go to sit on the beach, turn off your phone. Instead, allow yourself to be mindful of the nature around you – the migrating birds, the height and direction of the waves, the cloud formations, the variety of shells at your feet.
 - Teach yourself about the importance of our dune for the sake of appreciation and nurturing.

The Garden Spot

Fall in the Remembrance Garden brought more activity as the rains abated and the temperature dropped, albeit slightly. The skeletons of summer blossoms were ripped out, and several new species took their place. As I step away from my position in the Garden, I am working to make the Garden less demanding. Therefore, Master Gardner Lillian Aguiar and I shopped for perennial shrubs that took up space and needed little maintenance.

Fortunately, the "Plant Lady," Jane Gehring, arrived in Ocean Village just in time to help get the new purchases in the ground. Our favorite, heretofore unknown to any of us three, is the "Musical Note" plant. A member of the Clerodendrum group, which includes the "Bleeding Heart," this lesser known variety is unusual in that it is a short shrub, native to Africa, that grows from three to five feet high.

We chose it because it is a perennial that needs little pruning and produces flowers regularly in temperate weather. While utilitarian, the "Musical Note" is not just taking up space, but has blooms that are show-stoppers. The plant produces blooms at night that are clustered like a fist with each finger opening and expanding into about four-inch, delicate strands that terminate into a elliptical circle that resembles an eighth note on a musical score. These, in turn, split down the middle, creating what looks like a tiny, white butterfly.

As the "Musical Note" is a night bloomer, the best time to catch it is probably mornings. You will find one just inside the jasmine covered arch and the other near the top of the walk between the sculpture and the Norfolk Island pine.

A special thank you to the garden fairy who left over a half dozen orchids and pastel pots. A not-so-thanks to the bum who left his Jim Beam bottle in one of the plants on the patio: Be a better person.

Currently, memorial bricks can still be purchased from me. You may text me at 772-607-1917 or you can email me at bettiemarshall4@gmail.com or stop by at BT I #3635. One set of bricks ordered last spring has now been installed. The last spring order was only placed last month, but should arrive this month. I will notify every purchaser when the bricks are installed. Meanwhile, volunteers are still needed to step up and do something, even it is only one hour a week.

If you sell your unit the TiVo/Set-Top Box boxes and plumes must be returned, but the ONT stays. The TiVo boxes and plumes can either be returned to Blue Stream Fiber, 1982 SW Hayworth Avenue, Port St. Lucie, FL 34953 or you can call for a technician to come out to pick up the equipment, which usually incurs a fee. New owners will have to call for a new install at a cost of $99.

Pickleball News & Events

Each morning at 8 AM sharp, enthusiastic pickleball players take to the courts to start another day enjoying play on our five ocean-side courts, which were recently installed. The re-opening of a key OV amenity has been welcomed by returning players and beginners alike.

Save The Date!

We will kick off our events this season by co-hosting the annual Toys for Tots tournament with the Tennis Committee. It will be held the morning of Saturday, December 13 (likely 9 AM-12 PM). Luncheon immediately after will be at our own Hutchinson Island Grille. Admission is a donation of a new toy.

Once Recreation opens the sign-ups, you can register (specify tennis, pickleball, or BOTH) and pay for your luncheon. Watch for flyers with all details as we get closer to December. There will be a round robin style format that will permit crossover play for those who enjoy both sports. Note that the pickleball ladder will not be held that day but will take place on Sunday, December 14.

Ladder

Players are clamoring to resume our in-house competition! We are waiting for more players to arrive but expect to start in early November. Watch for news at the courts.

Our fundraising efforts continue. You may be aware from our 10/17/25 email that the Pickleball Committee members have donated seed money for the purchase of a few remaining accessories, including shade sails and bike racks. Additionally, JD and Maria Davila generously contributed the benches along the South side, where you can find morning shade between games. Other contributions may be sent to our Treasurer, Pedro Paytuvi. Cash, check, Zelle (use ppaytuvi@gmail.com) or Venmo (@ppaytuvi) can be used.

Thanks to everyone for supporting OV and the pickleball community.

A Convenient Shipping Solution for You - Right Here on the Island!

Save yourself a trip over the bridge for all your packing, shipping, and mailing needs. South Beach Pak & Ship, managed by General Manager Joe Duty, offers the convenience of a full-service mail center just minutes away.

The store accepts Amazon returns with printed shipping labels (please note: they cannot process QR-code only returns). Many island residents have also chosen to rent PO boxes and have their Amazon and other deliveries sent directly to the store. Some even use it as a secure delivery point for perishable or high-value packages, avoiding porch theft or weather damage. And for those concerned about mailing checks or important documents from an unsecured mailbox, South Beach Pak & Ship offers a safe handoff directly to the mail carrier.

Opened in July 2024, the business has grown steadily through word of mouth. Joe takes his customer service seriously—he often personally tracks packages to ensure they arrive safely. One recent example: he shipped a cherished family heirloom, a child's wooden rocking chair that has now been passed down through three generations, to its newest little owner.

A longtime island resident, Joe says he loves seeing the neighborhood continue to grow and is happy to welcome new neighbors like Dave's Diner next door.

Before Joe opened this location, you probably spent far too much time waiting in line at the post office. Now, you can just stop in—quick, easy, and right here on the island!

Ocean Village Golf News and Notes

Open Daily Dec. 1-April 15 (Closed Christmas Day) 7 AM -5 PM • Phone: (772) 467-0102 • Online tee times: OceanVillage.com • Facebook: @ovgolfclub • Maintenance: Tuesdays course closed until noon

As residents return and milder days settle in, OV Golf is gearing up for an exciting new season. Here's what's ahead:

Fee Adjustment Approved

Following a special community vote, 68% of members supported a fee increase to be determined by the POA BOD — the first increase in over a decade, to be effective December 1, 2025.

Golf Fees

To be determined, as of this writing Equipment rental hikes were approved in the spring, and the items and updated pricing are listed to the right.

Why a Rate Increase Makes Sense

Our seasonal golf fees haven't changed in over a decade, despite rising costs in course maintenance, staffing, and operations. We've worked hard to absorb these increases, but to maintain the quality of the course and service you deserve, a rate adjustment is necessary. Furthermore, it makes sense that those who actively use this amenity should contribute proportionally to the golf course upkeep. This adjustment ensures continued investment in course quality, sustainable turf management, and your overall golfing experience. The average price of a par 3 (9 holes) golf course, walking, in Florida is $29. Frankly, with any (proposed) price increase, 9 holes at Ocean Village Golf Course will still be an amazing bargain. It is a good investment for our overall property value, too.

Fall 2025 Merchandise Launch

The OV Golf Committee is proud to unveil its new seasonal collection, featuring moisture-wicking polos, vests, quarter zips, and caps with the updated club crest (see page 11).

The first 10 people who purchase merchandise will receive a gift card for a free round of golf. Contact Bobbie Burbank at bobbieburbank398@gmail.com, or the Golf Shop, (772) 467-0102, after December 1st for further details.

Ocean Village Resident Julio “JD” Davila Inducted into the Indiana Masters Basketball Hall of Fame

Ocean Village extends warm congratulations to resident Julio “JD” Davila on his recent induction into the Indiana Masters Basketball Hall of Fame. This well-deserved honor joins his earlier inductions into both the Miami Jackson High School Hall of Fame and the Florida Masters Basketball Hall of Fame.

JD remains an active and highly competitive athlete. He practices several days a week in Vero Beach with a dedicated training group and competes with his USA Global Masters Basketball Team, whose players come from Texas, South Carolina, Arkansas, California, Arizona, Georgia, New Jersey and Florida. The team members practice independently throughout the year and then travel to join forces in tournaments.

The team typically competes in eight U.S. tournaments annually, each consisting of six games, followed by participation in the FIMBA (World Federation of International Masters Basketball Association) global championships. JD and his teammates have captured world titles in the 50+, 55+, 60+ and 65+ age brackets.

Their international competition schedule has taken them to Portugal, Mexico, Italy, Costa Rica, Switzerland, Argentina, and Brazil, with new destinations added every year. On occasion, they compete here in Florida — always a thrill for those fortunate enough to watch them play.

Looking ahead, JD is preparing to compete in the 70+ category in several major tournaments scheduled for 2026, including Palm Beach (FL), Mesquite (NV), the Pan American Tournament in El Salvador, Coral Springs Nationals, the Indianapolis Masters, and the Huntsman World Senior Games.

Reflecting on his long career and the camaraderie that comes with it, JD shared, “Just representing the USA brings us close together and we compete with pride.”

JD and his wife, Maria, moved from Coral Gables to Ocean Village in 2020 and are year-round residents of our community.
